Announcing the release of our integrated reporting suite:
2016 - A year of alignment

We're pleased to announce the release of our 2016 integrated reporting suite.

The past financial year has been a testing one for South African businesses, characterised by an operating context that has been clouded by policy uncertainty and political risks. From our perspective, however, uncertainty breeds opportunity for those agile enough to capture it. 2016, for Redefine, therefore became a year of alignment. It was a time of examining our external context and then looking inward - aligning our structures to ensure we're poised to create and capture opportunities in what others may see as insurmountable odds.

We look forward to sharing this journey with you in these reports.
